Applicant's election with traverse of Group I in Paper No. 7 is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that Groups I and II can be searched without undue burden because the claims overlap with one another. This is not found persuasive because Group I does not require any particular packaging. These claims do not require an additional search in the packaging area at all.

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Lee (5,562,938).

Lee discloses fully cooked rice and pasta that is acidified to a pH of 4.0 to 4.6 (column 3, lines 38-50). In one of the embodiments, a second component is described that is either not packaged or is packaged by a separate means (column 6, lines 53-57). At column 5, lines 10-22 the concept of providing a second container that provides an alkaline neutralizing agent which will raise the pH of the starch food stuff to a pH of 5-7. At column 6, a line 39-51, the inclusion of a sauce (such as cheese or egg/cream) is described which can be combined with the pasta. The concept of adding alkaline neutralizing ingredients is also described. The pH of the sauce would fall within the range set forth in the claims, particularly when it is mixed with pasta.
